Re: Items for Review at December 6, 2012 CAC Meeting

Editing Status

We have worked closely with City staff over the last two weeks to review all of the comments received on the July 2012 Draft Plan from City and County staff, departments, and others and to address those comments in the document. The results will be available online next week in a redline/strikeout edited version of the document, as well as a clean copy. As part of this process, we have also worked to develop a comprehensive editing spreadsheet to track how each comment is addressed. We continue to work through the spreadsheet with staff to address all comments. We ask that you take time at the December 6 CAC meeting to consider the following and give the editing team your recommendations:

1. Updated Table of Contents

We have developed an updated Table of Contents that includes suggestions to re-organize the Plan Elements into three "umbrella" categories - Natural Environment, Built Environment, and People.

2. Re-worked Guiding Principles

Working with the theme of "Flagstaff Matters" that came out as part of the November 15 branding exercise, we have developed suggestions for re-working the Guiding Principles using that language. We envision the Guiding Principles being the framework that threads these values throughout the document.

3. Goals/Policies/Strategies Table

As we have worked to incorporate comments from reviewers, we have developed a comprehensive table that contains all suggested edits to goals, policies, and strategies for each element. The table you have received in your packet includes those suggested edits that require review by the CAC.

4. Updated Color Palette

Included are the updated color concepts that we developed using the feedback from the CAC from the November 15 presentation of initial concepts.
