UNDERSTANDING FAIR MARKET RENT

Fair Market Rent is generally calculated as the 40th percentile of gross rents for regular, standard quality units in a local housing market. This excludes low-quality units, already subsidized units, and units that have been built in the last 2 years. FMR rent data is typically taken from recent move ins rather than long-term tenants, as long-term tenants generally receive a lower monthly rental rate. FMR includes core utilities, like water and power, but doesn’t include internet and other optional services. The vast majority of market-rate apartment complexes in Flagstaff do NOT include utilities as part of their base rental charges.

AFFORDABILITY

A Flagstaff renter earning minimum wage ($15.50/hour) needs to work more than 2 full-time jobs (86.9 hours per week) to afford a two-bedroom apartment at the average rental rate of $1,758/month.

In order to afford an average two-bedroom apartment (without paying more than 30% of gross income on housing), a household must earn approximately $5,837 monthly, $70,040 annually or $33.68 hourly (assuming a 40-hour work week and 52 weeks/year).

CHALLENGES FOR HOUSING VOUCHER HOLDERS

City of Flagstaff Housing Voucher Payment Standard

$1,365 for a studio
$1,399 for a 1-bedroom
$1,768 for a 2-bedroom
$2,241 for a 3-bedroom

The payment standard establishes the maximum price a household with a Housing Choice Voucher can pay for a unit, including utilities. The voucher holder pays 1/3 of their income towards housing and the remainder is paid to the landlord by the Housing Authority. Due to the high local rental costs, Flagstaff has an exception payment standard 20% above HUD Fair Market Rents and still many units remain out of reach for these low income households, even with assistance. Adding to the struggle of finding a place to rent with a voucher, Arizona landlords can discriminate against households based on source of income, impacting voucher holders in our community.
