Water Services Releases Strategic Plan 2025

The Water Services Division has just completed its 2025 Strategic Plan. The plan summarizes the major issues facing the Division and the community over the next five years. It outlines ten Strategic Objectives that provide a basis for further community dialogue about risks, needed investments, and opportunities related to water issues. Among the critical concerns addressed in the plan are:

- Water resources and climate change planning
- Wildfires and water service reliability
- Stormwater system sizing and maintenance

This Plan does not communicate final policy decisions, but lays the groundwork for future discussions with policy makers and the public on specific strategies and investments. View the Plan on the Water Services website at
